Angel of Courage

A more prosperous future can be achieved by releasing all of your regrets and disappointments. Begin new endeavors with several deep breaths and a clear mind. Envision Hannah, Angel of Courage, with her curly auburn locks gently blowing in the wind. She leads you down a twisting and narrow wooden dock with a sailboat at the end. The aroma of salty sea air is everywhere. Focus on some disappointments you felt while growing up. Picture a big stack of boxes close to your feet. Each one of the boxes is the perfect size to fit memories of regret and disappointment. Put one memory in each box, placing the boxes in the sailboat. When you feel finished and only peaceful memories remain, the sailboat sets sail and goes out to sea. Angel Hannah walks alongside as you both leave the dock. The feelings of relief, lightness, and joy now prevail.

Angel of Careers

Manifesting professional goals becomes necessary when seeking a rewarding career. This creates a road map to success in your life. Select Cory, Angel of Careers, as a guide for this exciting adventure. His notable strength surrounds you with a tremendous sense of security for this journey. Visualize landing the perfect job. Imagine standing in the basket of a hot air balloon that sets down beside the building where your new job is located. Start by looking around and noticing the layout of the building. Find the exact placement of your office with windows and a large desk. Pay attention to each detail related to the position: personalities of all your colleagues, the general policies, working environment, and how management operates. Imagine sitting in your own office throughout the day and enjoying the furnishings, paintings, and décor. When visualization is complete, Cory escorts you back to the balloon and navigates the wondrous trip home. Spend several minutes feeling the exhilaration of this adventure.

Angel of Gratitude

Families that support and encourage each member's visions and dreams can prosper as a unit. Gratitude for one another's contributions becomes a way to grow together as a family. Invite the inspirational Annette, Angel of Gratitude, to join in. She is wearing a green gown and has long blond hair. To begin this remedy, gather family members around a table. Designate someone (usually a child or teenager) to make a Gratitude Box. Begin with a shoe box. Decorate it with colorful paper. Next, cut a hole in the top large enough to accommodate multiple slips of paper. All the participants write down items that have brought them happiness and for which they are forever grateful. Each one takes a turn to place their slips the gratitude box. Annette places her pieces of paper in this box, too. She smiles as she thanks your family for welcoming her and allowing her to join in the fun. As she prepares to depart, Annette admires the peaceful expression on each member's face. She is so grateful to have been invited.

Angel of Attraction

The basic principle of the Law of Attraction is "Like attracts like". What the law is describing is that one frequency of energy becomes a magnet to a separate frequency of an equivalent vibration. Liken it to a large mirror image: what is reflected out into the Universe will be returned in kind. Start using this remedy with the spirited Terina, Angel of Attraction, by requesting that she wait nearby as you make a list of your characteristics and best qualities. Next, write a list of traits the soulmate of your dreams might possess. Angel Terina is checking your separate lists for compatibility. Are you ready for the soulmate, or do you require a plan for improvement? Select your strategy and start moving forward in a plan to gain the attributes you desire in the other person. Terina suggests repeating, "I invoke the Law of Attraction" daily. She then flies off to locate the love of your life. While waiting patiently for the two of you to meet, focus on all the attributes you have to contribute to a solid and meaningful relationship.

Angel of Forgiveness

Individuals sustain more solid relationships by forgiving the transgressions of friends, co-workers, and family members. Learn to forgive, release, and move on past uncomfortable times using this remedy. Theodore, Angel of Kindness, with his brown hair and olive skin, is here to provide support. The Angel hands you a thick pad of paper. Begin by forgiving a friend. Write down one dilemma or situation you desire to release from the friendship. This is your opportunity to totally eliminate unhappy or uncomfortable feelings. When finished writing, cross out the words that described the drama or discomfort. Shred this sheet of paper and dispose of it quickly. Next, on a clean sheet of paper jot down a totally opposite scenario. One that depicts the way you want the friendship to progress. Use kind, caring words. Angel Theodore watches and praises your intention to forgive. He commends you for working on the friendship. Begin to think more kindly about your friend. Visualize the two of you sharing a hug.

Angel of Health

Breathing with conscious intention increases energy flow to supply additional oxygen to the brain. As an extra benefit from this form of breathing, it releases endorphins. Peter, Angel of Health, who has strong shoulders and a powerful demeanor, is hovering above. Now start this remedy by standing comfortably with your feet slightly apart. First, inhale through your nose to the count of five, at the same time reaching your arms up toward this angel. Then exhale slowly through your mouth as you count to five once again, bringing your arms down to your sides. After a third repetition, you will enjoy the vibrant energy flowing through your entire body. Practice this remedy often to get ready for your day and as a pick-me-up before tackling a project. Keep the energy flowing to help you focus and have clear thoughts. Peter is hovering lower now and offers his most hearty congratulations. The Angel is delighted with your increased good health, exclaiming with enthusiasm, "You have earned your Angel Wings!"

Angel of Organization

Everyday responsibilities will present circumstances which can be tackled with ease. Make tasks or projects effortless and less overwhelming by utilizing this technique. Jason, the methodical and powerful Angel of Organization, with his broad shoulders yet calm demeanor is standing nearby to observe. Now draw a circle, representing a pie, and divide it into six giant slices. Label each of the slices with the necessary tasks to accomplish. Highlight one large-sized piece that requires your immediate attention. Then line up the remaining wedges in the order of their importance. List all the actions essential for completing tasks and projects. Address each action with a well-organized approach. Appreciate Jason's guidance while you finish one portion at a time. If you get stuck on a particular item or situation, call on Angel Jason to intervene. Savor each "bite" for its sweet taste of victory. The Angel applauds your efficiency and success while offering his praise. You have officially become an organized person.

Angel of Animal Care

Preparing a pet to adapt to its new home and family is important in ensuring a beneficial transition. Help the animal feel welcome and secure in its unfamiliar surroundings. Being a compassionate, considerate, and caring angel, Thomas is delighted with your intention to establish a comfortable environment for the new addition to your family. Thomas, Angel of Animal Care, will explain to you that animals form an association by adapting to new homes or places through their senses. Hold the pet or guide it around the house and introduce it to the new surroundings. Calmly talk to your pet and show it those places and things that are important to you. Allow your pet to investigate a few of the areas that you enjoy the most. Also, be mindful of the fact that what you find welcoming and meaningful will attract the pet's attention as well. Your goal all along is to get the pet adjusted to its forever environment and internalize "I am home."
